AIRSTREAM

50+ Best-in-Class Features

"Roll with the best" is a phrase we like to use when referring to our touring coaches. And there's a very good reason why.

It's because when you choose an Airstream Touring Coach, you aren't choosing a vehicle where best-in-class requires an upgrade. It's standard. The fact is, there are more than 50 best-in-class features that come standard in every Airstream Touring Coach. Competing coaches either don't include these features or offer a substandard version.

Let's walk through the features we've included, and why we set the bar so high.

Design

Airstream's world-renowned reputation for quality and engineering goes into all aspects of touring coach design, from the exquisite exterior styling to the artful craftsmanship of the interiors.

High-quality Cabinets

Airstream cabinets are designed and built to stand the test of time. Handcrafted from fine wood imported from Italy, the cabinetry creates the look of a private jet's interior. The laminate ensures they'll never fade. The framing uses stamped aluminum rather than the stapled and glued wooden frames used in other coaches. The cabinets are also carpet-lined to provide the cabin with a dampening sound barrier. Cabinet struts are solid brushed nickel, and outside latches are flush mounted to provide your cabin with a smooth, sleek interior.

Durable Flooring

Carpeted flooring in touring coaches wears down quickly. Our marine-grade flooring will stay fresh and looking new, even after miles and miles of use. The pet-friendly, easy-to-clean material is also floating on an inch and a half of insulated flooring that's not only best-in-class but also the quietest.

Performance

While the interior of our touring coaches is all Airstream, the chassis and engine are all Mercedes-Benz, and our belief in “the best or nothing” is evident throughout. Or in this case, maybe it should be “best-in-class or nothing.”

Six-Cylinder Mercedes-Benz Diesel

What good is best-in-class beauty if it's missing best-in-class power? Airstream Touring Coaches lead the way with a standard Mercedes 5-speed, 3.0 liter, 188 horsepower V6 turbo engine. With 325 ft. lbs. of torque, you'll experience superior performance under any conditions. Fast acceleration, unbelievable torque, and impressive fuel mileage – on top of legendary reliability. So even when your adventures take you to the most remote locations, you'll trust Airstream Touring Coaches to take you there and back again.

Multi-Function Steering Wheel

You won't want to take your hands off the luxuriously plush perforated leather-wrapped steering wheel. And thanks to its multi-function controls, you can operate your Bluetooth® phone and dash monitor, plus adjust your stereo settings, without ever having to reach away.

Air Ride Suspension

Ride on air. This optional suspension system automatically adjusts as you drive and improves the coach's already superb handling and stability. Not only does it provide a higher level of comfort for passengers, it's easier on your tires and brakes, too, so you'll enjoy mile after mile of smooth rides with less maintenance as you float off to new destinations.

Safety

Safety shouldn't be considered a luxury. That's why advanced safety systems are standard throughout Airstream Touring Coaches, including many which are best-in-class.

Rear and Side View Camera

While you're likely focused on what's around the next bend, our coaches make it easy to see what's behind you, too. A rear vision camera, which is nighttime-enhanced, displays on a panel where the rearview mirror is normally located and features directional lines to make backing up even easier. Side-camera displays appear in the same monitor, so you get an even wider view of your surroundings.

Airbags and Safety System

Airstream Touring Coaches aren't just some of the safest vehicles on the road, they're the very safest in their class. In addition to the dual front airbags, driver and passenger side window airbags greatly reduce the risk of head and facial injuries. And thorax airbags provide added protection in the event of a side impact. So you'll feel confident in reaching your location safe and sound.

Collision Prevention

Mercedes has always believed the best way to survive an accident is by avoiding one in the first place. With that in mind, our coaches' collision prevention assist uses radar to constantly monitor closing speeds between your vehicle and the others around it. If the system determines a collision is likely, it will calculate and supplement the necessary brake force to slow you down.

Additional safety features:

- Blind spot assist
- High beam assist
- Lane keeping assist
- Road hazard kit and flashlight
- First-aid safety kit
- Bi-xenon headlights
- Headlight washer system
- Fog lamps
- LATCH child seat tethers (Interstate)

Amenities

Sometimes it's the details that matter most. That's why we haven't overlooked a thing. Airstream Touring Coaches are packed with premium features that anticipate every need. They're amenities that will be appreciated most by those who wish to truly travel well.

Multi-vision Monitor

Other travel coaches require you to toggle between views on the in-dash monitor. In Airstream Touring Coaches, your best-in-class touchscreen display grants separate views, simultaneously. GPS navigation is available on-screen at the same time as your radio controls. All the information you need, right in front of you.

FUSION® Infotainment System

Incorporated into the 8" in-dash touchscreen is the easy-to-use FUSION Infotainment system. The system is Wi-Fi Internet capable, so you can surf the web while cruising the road. Its Bluetooth technology lets you stream music, and its Garmin navigation system gives you lane guidance, terrain navigation, 3D maps, and access to a directory of RV-related services. Plus, it's Sirius XM® ready and offers hands-free calling. The system can also be controlled remotely. So no matter how far away from civilization you travel, you're just a touch away from all of its comforts and conveniences.

Each Atlas comes with best-in-class solid-surface countertops with an Airstream aluminum backsplash. And to match the countertops, the Atlas also comes with two solid, twist-lock pedestal tables that can be hidden away when they aren't needed.

About the Authors

Jason and Nikki Wynn are perpetual travelers who traded in their everyday lives to satisfy their “wear out your shoes” sense of adventure. They record their discoveries and provide other travelers with helpful information on their popular blog, Gone With the Wynns.

Little-Known Lodi, California

Everyone knows the California wine hotspots of Sonoma and Napa, but there are so many lesser-known towns eager to welcome RVers with open arms. The town of Lodi sits about 60 miles east of Napa and 35 miles south of Sacramento. This town is best known for its Zinfandel grapes, and is considered the Zinfandel Capital of the World. If you've had a Zin recently, chances are, you've had a taste of Lodi.

Sure the Zin is great, but it's the untrellised Flame Tokay vines that stole our hearts at Jessie's Grove Winery. Take a stroll around the barn, say hello to the resident desert tortoise, offer up a little treat to the horses, then make your way to the groves of the old world vines more than a century old. And if you're lucky enough to snag a bottle of the Cinsault SinSo, you won't be disappointed.

“Who knows? Maybe you’ll drive off with a fully-stocked wine fridge.”

Just up the hill is the El Dorado County wine region. One of the many stops that welcomes travelers is Chateau Routon, in Fair Play. Turn onto their private drive and you might think you've arrived at a horse ranch instead of a winery. As you wind up the hill past the working barns and stables, you 'll find yourself surrounded by vines.

Park your Airstream at the very top, surrounded by grapes, and soak in the views. The wines here are all solid but the house specialty is the ice cream sundae drizzled with their divine port style wine. Yes, it's absolutely sinful!

These are just two of our favorite stops, but there are several other destinations in the area that allow RVers to camp overnight. Tasty new experiences can be found everywhere around here, and who knows? Maybe you'll drive off with a new favorite wine region and a fully-stocked wine fridge.

Visit the Zinfandel Capital of the World and check out these can't-miss spots.

The Islands of Washington

If you've ever been to the Olympic Peninsula or Puget Sound, chances are you're already planning a return trip. With lush mild summers, fresh seafood (hello Penn Cove Mussels), and dramatic bluffs, it's no wonder visiting this area is on most people's bucket list.

Whidbey Island is the largest of the islands, with major attractions that make this a haven for road trippers. Find great views of sunsets over the water, scenic hikes through forests, and protected shorelines perfect for kayaking, along the Saratoga Passage, Penn Cove, and Skagit Bay. You will want to explore every mile from north to south, and it just so happens there are two ideal hosts for this trip.

Sandwiched between the famous Deception Pass and Fort Ebey State Park is Lavender Wind Farm. The owner, Sarah Richards, is happy to show you around the farm and let you wander on your own. We suggest a stroll to pick your own flowers, then settling in for the killer views out over the Strait to the snow-capped mountains.

Located in the historic town of Langley, the Heising family invites you to taste the fruits of their labor at the Whidbey Island Farm and Distillery. After a sampling of the silk smooth loganberry, raspberry and blackberry liqueurs, you'll sleep like a baby.

At this point if you haven't taken a ferry ride, this is a prime opportunity. Hop over to Olympic National Park for the dramatic peaks of the Olympic Mountains and old-growth forests straight from the pages of a fairy tale. Wear out your adventurous soles by day and relax by night. Choose to be surrounded by the sweet smell of the Purple Haze Lavender Farm in Sequim, or wind down with a tasting flight at Hoodspport Winery. (Or, you can always spend a night at each!)

One thing is for sure, no matter where you start or which direction you head, there's more to experience here than you can fit into one summer.

Rugged Colorado

Colorado is an epic destination full of adventures. The history is rich and diverse, from the Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad to the World Heritage Site of the Ancestral Pueblo people in Mesa Verde National Park.

Dress to the nines and head for Aspen, or throw on a pair of running shoes and attempt a summit up the infamous Manitou Incline. With breathtaking views of the Rockies, world-class whitewater, abundant craft beer, sun-kissed summers and snow-capped winters, what's not to love?

Ranch culture still runs deep in the wild parts of Colorado. Travel through the plains and you're likely to see the rugged and solitary way of life of the open range.

Several ranches and farms throughout Colorado offer picturesque spots to park and hang your hat. Pleasant Journey Alpacas is a 35-acre ranch near Durango with stunning mountain views (and lots of furry faces). Stock up on fresh grass-fed beef, free range eggs, asparagus, and lavender at Dayspring Farm in Olathe.

One of our favorite stops in Colorado has got to be Jumpin' Good Goat Dairy in Buena Vista! Here they take you on a milking tour where you'll see and taste their old world farmstead cheese. These goats are so sweet, if you lean in far enough, you'll get a kiss!

If you're more of a city slicker don't worry, you won't have to get your boots muddy everywhere you go in Colorado. In Palisade, you can sink your teeth into some of the best peaches we've ever tasted at Aloha Organics. There's also a meadery and three wineries within a short drive of Grand Junction that welcomes travelers to stay overnight in their RVs.

Closer to the town of Pueblo you can park it at the historic Holy Cross Abbey. They may not drink the wine, but those Benedictine monks sure know how to ferment it!

Wining Around The Finger Lakes

South of Lake Ontario, eleven scenic lakes spread like fingers across the central part of New York. It's a hotspot for the farm-to-table movement, bio-dynamic farming, cider houses, and an ever-growing craft beer scene with almost 100 stops on the incredible Finger Lakes Beer Trail.

This area is dotted with state parks, rivers, waterfalls, and deep gorges. Oh, and let's not forget the "Grand Canyon of the East," Letchworth State Park, or the world famous Niagara Falls, just a short drive away. There's no reason to hold back on the indulgences here. The Finger Lakes provide plenty of activities to work off all the decadence.

The number one draw here is the wine. This is the largest wine-producing region in New York. The "lake effect" micro-climate produces some of the world's best Rieslings and provides a great escape from the summer heat.

“The options are endless,
but why not start with one of these?”

Vintners have been crafting wine here for years. In fact, the area has two of America's oldest wineries, The Pleasant Valley Wine Company, circa 1860, and O-Neh-Da Vineyard, circa 1872.

There are fifteen hosts in the Finger Lakes who welcome RVers to come and stay the night. The options here are endless, but why not start with one of these? Spend the night in Hammondsport surrounded by the historic stone buildings of Pleasant Valley Wine Company while sipping on their delicious Great Western Champagne. Park your Airstream surrounded by 1,500 hills of hops at Climbing Bines in Penn Yan, then step inside for a super local handcrafted ale. Sip an old world style late harvest Riesling and soak in the never-ending panoramic view over Seneca Lake at Chateau Lafayette Reneau in Hector, N.Y.

The best part? In your Airstream, home is always just a few steps away.

The Finger Lakes are a hotspot for the farm-to-table movement and also play host to an incredible craft beer scene.

A Winter Escape in Florida

If snowflakes and icicles are not what you're dreaming of this winter, join the thousands who flock to the Sunshine State for, well, sunshine. But don't let me mislead you, there's more than tropical sunny skies in Florida to justify a winter road trip.

Miles of powdery white beaches along the Panhandle. Citrus groves in central Florida. Cypress trees in the Everglades. The vibrant coral reefs of the Keys. What more do you need? There's something here for everyone. This is the place to devour buckets of fresh seafood and then work it off bicycling, paddling, or swimming. Just be cautious of how many of those "cocktail on the beach" photos you post to Instagram. Your friends back home defrosting their windshields may not want to see them all.

Kick things off with a stay in the small town of Vernon at Three Oaks Winery. Their low-alcohol

Florida fruit wines are perfect for sunsets on the Emerald Coast.

As you head further into the state, take an off-the-beaten-path trip to Golden Acres Ranch in Monticello. They are known for their lamb and goat meat, but it's the free range chickens that will keep you entertained. Bobbie and Fred Golden are the quintessential farm couple and get a kick out of sharing their farm. Join them on a feeding, or roam around the farm to discover on your own.

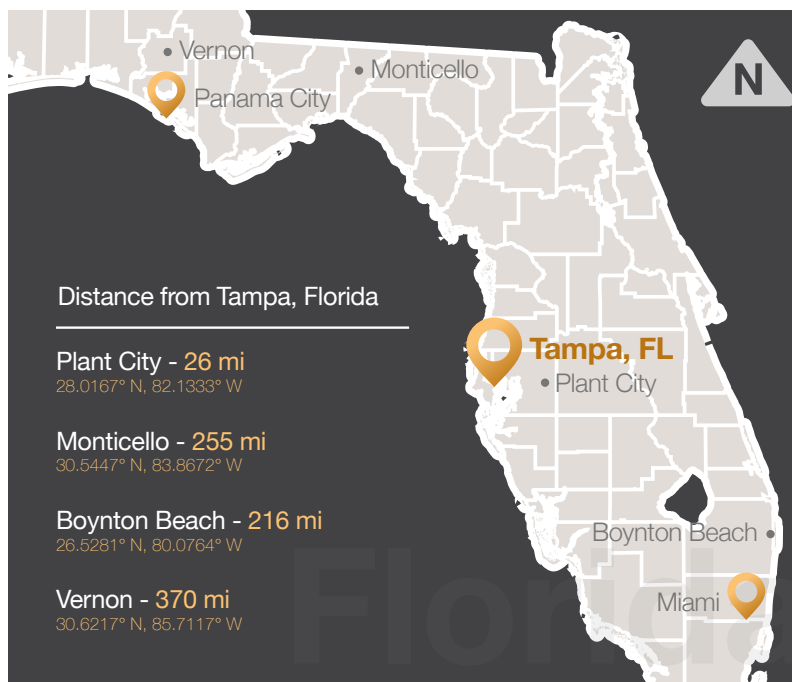

If you happen to be rolling through Plant City (just outside of Tampa) on a Friday or Saturday, chances are you'll catch live music at this two-for-one. Okay, more like a three-for-one. Keel & Curley Winery and Two Henrys Brewing Company is a u-pick farm that crafts fruit wine, fusions, and beer. So, you can eat and drink your fruit here.

As you are making your through the Keys, spend a night at Bedner's Farm Fresh Market in Boynton Beach. This sustainable u-pick farm stand is the perfect place to restock and learn about sustainable farming in Florida.

Florida is full of unexpected treasures waiting to be discovered, and while you'll likely be dusting the sand from your shoes, rest assured you won't be shoveling any snow.

Among the pristine beaches, find these Florida treasures shining bright under sunny skies.

Final Thoughts

Pack up your Airstream and let your adventures guide your route. Because it's not about how long the trip lasts, how far the destination is, or even what type of Airstream you have. It's knowing that new experiences and possibilities are around every corner.

It's the feeling you get when you hear the "pop" from uncorking a bottle of wine. It's the unfamiliar smiles as you gather around the farm table for a family style ranch meal. It's the satisfaction of a familiar bed and a hot shower after lending a hand during harvest on an organic fruit farm.

Let's ignite our venturesome spirits and come alive. Let's head down that windy dirt road and see what adventure lies at the end. It's these drives that open new worlds of experiences. It's believing there's no wrong way to do it! It's rising to the adventure and summing it up with two simple words: Live Riveted.

In the words of our founder, Wally Byam, it's time to get out and "open a world of new experiences."
