

Welcome to Your Dream

LET'S GET STARTED

A Letter from Our CEO

THERE'S A REASON THE NAME AIRSTREAM STANDS APART—
AND NOW YOU'RE A PART OF IT

Whether this is your first Airstream or your fourth, the feeling of finally being able to step inside is like no other. That's the feeling Airstreamers have experienced since the 1930s.

It was wartime and our founder, Wally Byam, was just experimenting with his first travel trailer designs. Back then, Airstream was one of 400+ manufacturers. By the end of the war, Airstream was the only one that remained. And that was just the beginning of what made Airstream different.

From the materials we used, to the way we built each recreational vehicle, Airstream had a reputation for being uncompromising. That's the legacy I help lead today—one that puts quality at the very top of our priorities, even when it means we can't make our products as quickly as others can. We focus on building the right way, not the easiest way. It's that focus that allows Airstreams to last for generations and be passed down to others.

The other part of the magic of Airstream is the spirit of Airstreamers themselves. We are some of the most adventurous, tenacious, life-filled people I've ever encountered. We get out there, see things for ourselves, and do it all in comfort. That's the life Wally envisioned for himself, every member of his original Caravans, and all of us. So let's live up to the Airstream name and stand apart. Together.

Bobo Wheeler

President and CEO of Airstream

What's Included in This Guide

This welcome book is intended to help you get up to speed quickly, learn the ins and outs of Airstream life, and give you all the resources you need at your fingertips. You've been dreaming of your new Airstream for months—maybe even years—and we want you to make the most of your adventure right away. Inside this guide you'll find:

A Timeline of Airstream History: For more than 90 years, Airstream has manufactured the world's most iconic recreational vehicles. Learn more about the history behind this iconic American brand and its founder, Wally Byam.

A Guide to Getting Started: We've included quick resources to help you find the answers you need, a guide to visiting "The Mothership" in Jackson Center, a glossary of common Airstream terms, and much more to help you get off on the right foot.

Benefits and Support: Discover the customer support resources, perks, and memberships that come with your new Airstream. Plus, explore our official store, Airstream Supply Company, for expert recommendations about outfitting your new Airstream with the best gear and travel essentials.

Meet Your People: You're an Airstreamer now. Get to know the community of travelers, full-timers, wanderers, and wonderers who share the highway with you.

Plan a Trip: Our guide to planning the perfect trip includes a crash course in campsites, Airstreamer-recommended destinations, our boondocking guide, and more.

Document Your Journey: Keep a record of your travels, lists of favorite campgrounds, epic scenic drives, and service history.

Plus much, much more!

AIRSTREAM History

An Iconic Timeline

AIRSTREAM HISTORY IS RICH WITH INNOVATION AND THE SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE

1930s

Airstream founder Wally Byam builds his first travel trailers. He sells templates for others to make their own and soon pivots to opening the first Airstream factory in California. Travel trailers boom, then bust during the war. Wally has to close his first factory.

1940s

During WWII, Wally finds employment in the aviation industry. By war's end, he works as a certified manufacturing engineer at Curtis Wright Industries, where he eventually manufactures a line of aluminum travel trailers similar to the pre-war Airstream Clipper. By spring of 1947 he leaves Curtis Wright and restarts Airstream.

1950s

Wally begins testing his travel trailers on Caravans that criss-cross the globe, and in 1955 the Wally Byam Caravan Club International is founded to continue inspiring international goodwill and lifelong friendships. In 1958, the International package hits the market, allowing owners to travel without the need for shore power or water hookups.

1960s

After battling cancer, Wally passes away in 1962. His colleagues carry on his legacy, refining Airstreams with internal facelifts as well as exterior and structural changes. When humans first visit the moon in 1969, an Airstream is used as a Mobile Quarantine Facility for the astronauts upon their return to Earth.

1970s

Airstream enters the motorized world with the Argosy motorhome. To consolidate operations during the 1970s' recession, Airstream moves all manufacturing to Jackson Center, Ohio, which becomes the official headquarters.

1980s

An Airstream Caravan makes history by traveling through China for the first time. On August 29, 1980, Wade Thompson and Peter Orthwein acquire Airstream and simultaneously form a new company, THOR Industries, Inc. Under their leadership, Airstream enters a fresh season of business.

1990s

Interest in vintage Airstreams begins to grow, resulting in the creation of the Vintage Airstream Club, a chapter of the Wally Byam Caravan Club International. Airstream introduces several lightweight travel trailers that can be towed by the smaller tow vehicles of the era.

2000s

Airstream begins a long-running collaboration with Mercedes-Benz® on all of its Class B touring coaches. The touring coaches are built on a Mercedes-Benz chassis, and every single safety, comfort, and convenience option is offered as standard.

2010s

Airstream reintroduces its 16-foot Basecamp design with new features and improved engineering. The rugged Basecamp X and a 20-foot Basecamp soon follow. Smart Control Technology provides owners with an unprecedented level of digital insights and remote control of their Airstream.

2020s

Airstream headquarters expands with a brand new 750,000-square-foot factory, which includes a Heritage Center for Airstream lovers to visit and be part of. Airstream celebrates its 90th anniversary in 2021.

Wally Byam

Airstream founder Wally Byam was an inventor, a creator, and most of all a dreamer. Sixty years after his death, his spirit for adventure lives on in every Airstreamer, and the philosophy he captured in his poetic Creed continues to inspire us to see what's over the next hill.

"In the heart of these words is an entire life's dream. To those of you who find in the promise of these words your promise, I bequeath this creed...my dream belongs to you.

"To place the great wide world at your doorstep for you who yearn to travel with all the comforts of home.

"To provide a more satisfying, meaningful way of travel that offers complete travel independence, wherever and whenever you choose to go or stay.

"To keep alive and make real an enduring promise of high adventure and faraway lands... of rediscovering old places and new interests.

"To open a whole world of new experiences...a new dimension in enjoyment where travel adventure and good fellowship are your constant companions. "To encourage clubs and rallies that provide an endless source of friendships, travel fun, and personal expressions.

"To lead caravans wherever the four winds blow...over twinkling boulevards, across trackless deserts...to the traveled and untraveled corners of the earth.

"To play some part in promoting international goodwill and understanding among the peoples of the world through person-to-person contact.

"To refine and perfect our product by continuous travel-testing over the highways and byways of the world.

"To strive endlessly to stir the venturesome spirit that moves you to follow a rainbow to its end...and thus make your travel dreams come true."

GETTING STARTED

Glossary of Common Terms

Airstreamer: More than just campers or travelers, Airstream owners are a unique band of wanderers and wonderers tied together by our mutual love of iconic design, expert craftsmanship, and endless adventures.

The Mothership: Airstream's world headquarters in Jackson Center, Ohio. Since 1979, all Airstreams have been born at The Mothership, and a visit is on many Airstreamer bucket lists.

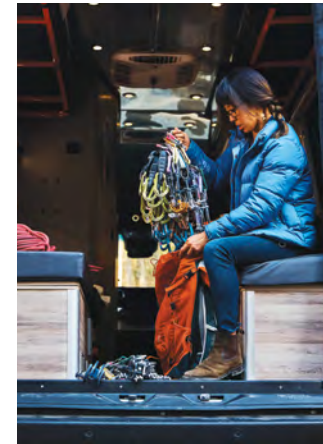

Boondocking: Camping off-grid without the typical hookups available at a campsite.

Waste, Gray, and Fresh Tanks: Most Airstreams are equipped with three holding tanks. The gray tank holds all liquids that go down the sink drains, the fresh tank holds fresh water, and the waste tank holds solid and liquid waste that goes down the toilet.

Work from Anywhere: The modern trend of working remotely while on the road, blending life, vacation, and work together for a new kind of travel freedom.

Wally Byam: Born on the Fourth of July in 1896, Wally Byam founded Airstream in 1931 with the promise of giving travelers all the comforts of home while they explore the world.

Streetside: Equivalent to the driver's side of an automobile. An Airstream's streetside is where you'll find electrical, water, and sewer hookups.

Curbside: Equivalent to the passenger side of an automobile. The curbside features an awning and the main entry door.

GVWR: Gross Vehicle Weight Rating is the maximum amount of weight that your touring coach should not exceed. The GVWR includes the weight of the coach itself, plus any gear, equipment, food, and other items you pack for your trip.

Winterize: If you live in a northern climate where temperatures drop below freezing, your Airstream should be winterized to prevent damage. The process involves blowing water out of the plumbing and/or adding non-toxic RV antifreeze to prevent freezing pipes.

Caravan: From informal groups of Airstreamers traveling together to organized adventures conducted by the Airstream Club International (aka The Wally Byam Caravan Club International), Caravans strengthen the bonds between travelers while inspiring new adventures.

Name Your Airstream

Your new Airstream is now a part of your family—just as much as any person or pet. You'll quickly learn what every seasoned Airstreamer knows in their heart: Your Airstream keeps the lifetime of memories you make along the way and takes on even more personality with every trip. Because of the special place they hold in your life, they deserve an official name. The Official Airstream Registry is your chance to cement your Airstream's status as part of your family and the community forever.

How It Works

1. Register Your Airstream

Tell us your info, your Airstream's story, and give your Airstream an official name.

2. Order Your Medallion

Each registered Airstream gets an aluminum medallion, which you'll get in the mail.

3. Join Your Community

We'll post your medallion, photos, and story on our website's virtual caravan wall.

What's Included

Once you're registered, we'll send you an official customized Airstream Medallion, a certificate of registration, and a letter from us to welcome you to the community. You can install your medallion on the outside or inside of your Airstream, or keep it wherever you like. Register Online at airstream.com/name

Caravan to Carbon Neutral

NEUTRALIZE THE ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT OF YOUR TRAVEL WHILE PRESERVING THE BEAUTY OF OUR NATURAL WORLD

Through a unique partnership between Airstream and the National Forest Foundation (NFF), the Caravan to Carbon Neutral (C2CN) offsets the carbon footprint of the manufacturing, delivery, and first year of travel for every new Airstream produced. As a new Airstream owner, your first year on the C2CN is covered and helps the NFF plant thousands of trees that preserve and protect the natural world we love to explore and enjoy.

Beyond Your First Year on the C2CN

After your first year of travel, you can purchase new C2CN carbon reduction kits at our official store, Airstream Supply Company. Carbon Reduction Kits are available at three levels of support, and kits come with custom decals, flags to display on your Airstream, and more. No matter which level of support you choose, you can travel with peace of mind knowing you're directly supporting these vital efforts to protect and beautify our environment.

What Do the Red Numbers Mean?

Have you ever seen an Airstream with big red numbers on its front? Here's their story. In 1951, Airstream founder, Wally Byam, set out to lead a Caravan of 63 Airstreams (and their adventurous owners) throughout Central America. His second cousin Dale "PeeWee" was along for the ride. There were, of course, no cell phones or GPS to help keep track of everyone, so Wally assigned big red numbers to each Airstream. Wally and Stella's Airstream was number 1 and led the pack. Ever since then, the Club has assigned the same kind of numbers to their members—some of whom display them in the same original style.

Camping 101

Campgrounds are an essential part of the Airstreaming experience. But booking a site, setting up camp, and hooking up to electric, water, and sewer can be overwhelming for the first-timer. With a little preparation and a willingness to learn, navigating campgrounds will quickly become second nature.

Types of Campsites:

Full Hookup

Full hookup sites come with water, electricity, and sewer hookups. By far the most popular, these sites are often booked well in advance.

Partial Hookup

These types of sites are the most commonly available. In general, a partial hookup site will offer electricity from a pedestal located near a rectangular concrete pad.

Private, Park, or Public Land: Understanding Different Campground Options

Different types of campgrounds offer vastly different experiences. Private campgrounds (like KOA, Thousand Trails, or the smaller independent spots) often provide a wide range of amenities—from beachfront access to sprawling pools, golf courses, and close-by location to popular attractions. State parks can vary widely from state to state, but can be less expensive and are usually well-situated in the natural world. National parks are popular and often difficult to reserve, but put you at the epicenter of some of the best outdoor sightseeing and activities available. And while public land means boondocking without electric, water, and sewer hookups, the challenge of boondocking more than makes up for the solace, serenity, and escape you find far from the crowds.

Become an expert with our campground crash course.

ANATOMY OF A CAMPGROUND

Try Boondocking

The term “boondocking” is used to describe any time you’re camping without traditional power, water, and sewer hookups. It’s also known as dry camping, dispersed camping, public land camping, primitive camping, wild camping, and free camping. Whatever you call it, if life off the grid sounds like your speed, give it a shot!

Where to Boondock

You can find spots around or in national and state parks, as well as private land where you know the owners or public land like the National Forest. The best resource for finding great boondocking spots is often the Airstream community online. Popular camping websites and apps can be helpful as well.

What to Bring

Since you won’t be hooking up to power or water at camp, you’ll need to bring your resources along with you. That includes refillable fresh water bladders and/or jugs, extra food, power banks, solar panels, and emergency and communication gear.

Get All the Tips You Need

Our Boondocking Guide goes into every detail of the boondocking experience, from before you leave to while you’re out in the “boonies.” Download your copy at airstream.com/boondocking.
